Commission with this for-profit company, the same company that was in Nebraska at the...or in Kansas at the time. We've got the same people working here in Nebraska and set up this for-profit opportunity. Now, if we go ahead and vote for the Bromm amendment at this time, we're not destroying Nebrask(at) Online. They can still put it together in computer-friendly form for anybody who wants to get those big batch files. But what we're saying is allow the individual taxpayers who might want access to those records on their computer to have that access. That's all we're asking here is to allow the individual taxpayers to have...

SENATOR WILL: One minute.

SENATOR WITEK: ...access to those records. You can keep Nebrask(at) Online or any other company that you choose to contract with to put those files together, to have it computer-friendly, to go ahead and have those fast batch files downloaded to whoever is requesting them in whatever form they want them. You can go ahead and keep that for-profit opportunity there if you want to. But with the Bromm amendment, what we're saying is we also...we the taxpayers, the individual taxpayers who don't want to join Nebrask(at) Online to access these records want access to those records. And if you vote for the Bromm amendment, you can help those individuals who don't want to be a member of Nebrask(at) Online and have to pay those fees. Fifty dollars is a lot of money for a lot of people. If you want to help those individuals have access to those records when they want to have it, then you have to vote for the Bromm amendment and allow us to have that easy access, inexpensive access to our own state records that we're paying to make. Thank you.

SENATOR WILL: Thank you, Senator Witek. Senator Coordsen.

SENATOR COORDSEN: A question of Senator Bromm, if he'd respond, please.

SENATOR WILL: Senator Bromm, would you yield?

SENATOR BROMM: I would, Senator Will.
